

Chan, Philippe Andre	S11
Gerardino, Gabriel Angelo	S11
Tabije, Nicole Angela	S11

Web Application Proposal: Discussion Board (Reviews of Different Food in the Philippines)

FEATURES

Register

In order for a user to share their own food reviews and browse others', they must first register by providing their username, password, profile photo, and an optional bio.

Log in

The user can log in by entering their username and password after completing the registration process. They can now use the web application to browse, create posts, upvote or downvote, and leave comments.

Log out

The user can log-out from their account if they wish to. This will be part of the settings, and clicking this button will take the user back to the register/log in page.

View account details

The users can view their account information, such as their username, profile photo, bio, and the active posts they have.

Edit account details

The user can edit their account details, such as their username, password, profile photo, and bio. After editing their account details, they will be asked to enter their current password to save the changes.

Delete account

The user can delete their account. This results in the deletion of all their posts and comments on the web application.

View all posts

Registered users will see 10 posts in the newsfeed when they log in, which includes the title and image of the post. Clicking on this title will display the entire post's details. There will be a "next" button that will take you to another set of posts. A "previous" button will also be available if the user wishes to go back to the previous page.

Revised: Registered users will see the posts in the newsfeed after registering or logging in, which includes the title and image of the post. Clicking the "see more" button will display the entire post's details.

View a user profile

Users can view other user profiles as well, including the posts made by that user, their profile picture, username, bio, and reputation score.

Create Post

After logging in, the user can start writing his/her food review. The user is required to give his/her post a title and a body that includes the food's image, the price, where to buy it, his/her rating, and any other details he/she wishes to include.

Edit a post

The post's owner has the ability to edit any of their postings at any time.

Delete a post

The user can delete a post they have made.

Comment

The user can write comments on any post, including their own. They can also engage with other users by replying to the comments they have made.

View a comment

The user can view the comments on the post they have opened.

Revised: The user can view the comments by clicking on the comments logo.

Edit a comment

The user can edit any comment they have made on any post.

Delete a comment

The user can delete any comment they have made on any post.

Upvote

The user can upvote any post or comment. The upvote is removed by clicking the upvote button again. The user cannot have an upvote and a downvote on the same post or comment.

Downvote

The user can downvote any post or comment. The downvote is removed by clicking the downvote button again. The user cannot have an upvote and a downvote on the same post or comment.

Search a post

A user can search for a specific food item or restaurant by entering it into the search bar. All posts containing those words will appear on the page.

Reputation Score

Users will gain reputation scores whenever other users upvote or downvote their posts or comments. The higher a user's reputation score, the more credible the user is. Users can also get a negative reputation score.